Trusts, Tax, Probate and Estates

Emily has a wealth of experience in contentious and non-contentious trusts and estate issues.

She is regularly instructed on high value complex matters involving dishonest breaches of trust, sham trusts, failure to account, administration of trusts, and the validity and effect of trust deeds and wills.

Many of the cases in which Emily is instructed involve offshore trusts. She also advises upon trust issues arising in wider litigation, including commercial disputes, pension schemes and matrimonial cases.

Cases on which Emily has recently been instructed include:

- Acting for the object of a multi-million pound Bermudan discretionary trust involving issues about the failure to exercise discretionary powers to restructure trusts and the management of trust assets
- ND v SD & ors [2017] EWHC 1507 (Fam) Acting for the wife in matrimonial proceedings in a claim to assets worth over £70 million. The issues include:
 - whether discretionary trusts established by the husband in Cyprus are sham trusts;
 - whether property has been formally settled on trust under the laws of Cyprus;
 - the scope of discretionary powers under Cypriot law
- Acting for the trustees of a Guernsey settlement in a claim involving:
 - removal of co-trustees;
 - an account of trust property;
 - disclosure of trust information;
 - a trustee's entitlement to reasonable security;
 - the legitimacy of invoices rendered to the trust;
 - the interaction between a commercial arbitration clause and the court's inherent supervisory jurisdiction
