Practice Overview

Paul has a litigation and advisory practice concentrating on financial and private client disputes, most notably pensions, financial services and trusts. A substantial proportion of Paul's practice also involves advising on and acting in liability and negligence disputes involving professionals.

As well as representing some of the highest profile pension schemes in the UK and several major life insurers, Paul acts regularly for The Pensions Regulator. He has been heavily involved in advising on, and appearing in cases relating to, various provisions of the Pensions Act 2004, and also has extensive experience of advising and litigating on various public sector and industry-wide pension schemes.

Paul has advised the Royal Bank of Scotland in connection with its successful recovery of pension benefits from Sir Fred Goodwin. He has also advised the Department of Work and Pensions on the age discrimination regulations, and has advised the senior UK judiciary on the effect of the reforms to public sector pensions on the judicial pension schemes.

An increasing amount of Paul's work relates to Self-Invested Personal Pension Schemes, or SIPPs. Paul acts for investors, providers and trustees in respect of claims for mis-selling of SIPPs and mis-investment of investments within SIPPS.

Paul regularly acts in contentious private and commercial trust disputes both in the UK and overseas, particularly Jersey and the Caribbean, involving disputes concerning the role of protectors, claims by beneficiaries and the duties of trustees.

Paul recently appeared in an international arbitration in Bermuda relating to a claim for breach of warranty in a share sale agreement involving a multinational telecommunications company.

Paul has an interest in legal history and is a member of the Selden Society. In his spare time, he is researching for a part-time PhD at the London School of Economics on the topic of law reporting in the Georgian era, for which he has been awarded an AHRC London Arts & Humanities Partnership Research Studentship for his research.

Paul is regularly recommended in the legal directories. Recent comments about Paul in The Legal 500 and in Chambers & Partners include the following: "He has a first-class mind and is well-known for his courtroom manner and robust pragmatism"; "he provides crystal clear analysis. He's emotionally intelligent and therefore very client-friendly"; "a first-rate litigator"; "a very bright and first-rate advocate, imaginative in finding solutions to extremely complex legal issues, and he does so without losing sight of the underlying legal principles"; "an absolutely outstanding advocate, who fights cases with passion"; and "a superb advocate with a no-nonsense approach."

International Arbitration

Paul has appeared in international arbitrations, most recently a UNICITRAL arbitration in Bermuda concerning a breach of warranty claim in a share sale agreement involving a major multinational telecommunications company. The case involved extensive cross-examination of factual and expert witnesses.

Paul's work in this area has also involved a number of international commercial and private trust disputes of a highly confidential nature.
